the others. It would thus appear that the Robert Goodwin in York county in 1736 (then aged thirty-three), 1742 and 1748 was the son of this Robert, and that he married and had a daughter, who married Samuel Hill, of York county, and perhaps other daughters—Rebecca and Anne. There may have been, and doubtless were, others in addition to the following children: i. Martin, born ——, d. s. p.; ii. Robert, born ——, 1703, married ——.

8. Martin Goodwin (James), born in York county, married Barbara Rogers, daughter of John Rogers, by whose will (page 147, 1897 Supplement) we learn that Elizabeth was Martin's oldest daughter. The son Martin, born about 1713, died in 1749 in Elizabeth City county, leaving four children, James, Martin, Elizabeth and Robert. There were probably more than these children: i. Elizabeth, born 1711; ii. Martin, born about 1713, married Elizabeth ——.

Page 2.—Devereaux Goodwin disappears from the Maryland records, so far as I can learn, about 1705. I find that on May 4, 1715, a Devereux Gooding was rector of Desborough Hundred, Buckingham, England. It seems probable that Devereaux, Sir Francis and Major James were all descendants of the John and Katherine Goodwin, of Buckingham, or Bucks, who had eighteen children.

Page 13.—John Goodwin (Peter, Peter, James) had son Peter, born 1768, who was said probably not to have survived. This is an error, as shown by page 158, 1897 Supplement, he being Peter, Sr., as shown by the note on that page.

Pages 15–16.—Thomas Goodwin (John, James, Peter, James) enlisted in January, 1781, then aged fifteen years, under Capt. Thomas Doswell and Col. Park Goodall, for three months. He reënlisted in May, 1781, as a private under Capt. William Norvill and Col. John Taylor.

APPENDIX A.

THE GOODWINS OF BROOKVILLE, INDIANA.

Thomas Goodwin, born about 1730–'40, was married twice, but had no children by his second wife. He was a farmer and slave-owner and a Quaker. His son Thomas, Jr., is said to have been born in Pennsylvania, and to have inherited a part of his father's estate about 1815. Probably the facts will be found to be that Thomas Goodwin, Sr., resided in Montgomery county, or at least in Maryland, where the Aiken, Wiles, McKinley, Shaw and Rees families lived, and that after the death of his first wife he remarried and moved into Pennsylvania and there died. Thomas Jr., went along the old National Road to Brownsville, Fayette county, Pa., and thence eventually to Brookville, Ind. Thomas Jr., had brothers and sisters, but their names or descendants are not known. In the search for records which would identify the family of Thomas Goodwin Sr., much of the data of the various Goodwin families in America has been collected, and while the records throw no light on the point in question, they are given to the Goodwins in printed form in the hope that they may hereafter be the foundation for a complete history. Mr. Warren S. Ely, of Doylestown, Pa., calls attention to a possible solution of the Thomas Goodwin Sr., puzzle, as follows:

Richard Goodwin, a planter and slave-owner, died in Anne Arundel county, Md., about January 1, 1796, leaving wife Mary, sons Richard, John and Thomas, giving a negro to the latter in addition to land, and daughters Elizabeth, Ara and Ellinder. Richard also mentions grandchildren and appoints his son-in-law, Charles Robinson, his executor. It can be assumed that Richard, a grandfather, apparently surviving some of his children and mentioning grandchildren among his heirs, might have been born around 1720, and be about seventy-six years old at death; that his son Thomas might have been born about 1745, and was by this will a slave-owner, and might have been the father of Thomas Jr., born April 27, 1767; that Charles Robinson, a son-in-law, was appointed executor because the sons had gone from home and "set up" for themselves; and finally it shows that Thomas Sr. (?), was living in 1796, and might well have survived until 1810–'15, when Thomas Jr., inherited from him.

The points of similarity are quite striking, and further investigation should either furnish additional proof or disprove the guess. Child (only one known): i. Thomas, born April 29, 1767, married Catherine Rees.

Thomas Goodwin (Thomas), born April 29, 1767, was married about 1788 to Catherine Rees, born October 7, 1767, a daughter of David and Lydia (——) Rees, who were born in Wales. Catherine knew her husband's step-mother, but not his own mother. They resided, perhaps, in Lancaster, Pa., surely in Brownsville, Pa., and thence going to Ohio and eventually to Brookville, Ind. Children: i. Samuel, born April 12, 1789, married, first Eunice Pearson, second, Mrs. Eleanor (Wiles) Moon; ii. Hezekiah Rees, born Nov. 19, 1791, married Lydia Ligett; iii. William, born June 1, 1795, drowned on trip to New Orleans; iv. James, born Oct. 22, 1797, died unmarried; v. Lydia, born Aug. 9, 1800, died 1815; vi. Elizabeth, born Nov. 9, 1806, married George Kepler; vii. Mary (Polly), born April 30, 1809, married James Marlatt.

Samuel Goodwin (Thomas, Thomas), born April 12, 1789, at Old Fort, now Brownsville, Fayette county, Pa., was married, first, at Lebanon, Ohio, to Eunice Pearson, born 1796, died 1814. Samuel was married, second, March 19, 1815, at Lebanon, to Mrs. Eleanor (Wiles) Moon, widow of Phineas Moon and daughter of John and Eleanor (McKinley) Wiles Jr. John Wiles Jr., is said to have been the only son of a John Wiles, who was killed in the Revolutionary war and whose wife is thought to have been an Aiken. Eleanor McKinley was daughter of Rodger and Eleanor (Shaw) McKinley of Baltimore, Md., Rodger being a son of James McKinley, born 1708 in Ireland, died 1812 in Lebanon, Ohio. Samuel Goodwin settled in Brookville in 1816, where he died June 26, 1851. His widow died May 18, 1873. Children by second wife: i. Eunice, born July 12, 1817, died Sept. 6, 1817; ii. (Rev.) Thomas Aiken, born Nov. 2, 1818, married Content Lucretia Craft; iii. (Dr.) John Reeves, born July 15, 1820, married Rachel Goudie; iv. Mary, born Aug. 7, 1822, died July 31, 1839, unmarried; v. Eleanor, born May 13, 1824, died Nov. 30, 1843, unmarried; vi. Martha Wiles, born March 4, 1826, married Wilson Morrow; vii. Samuel Augustus, born July 11, 1828, died March 17, 1829; viii. Samuel George, born Feb. 21, 1830, resides Indianapolis, Ind.; ix. (Rev.) William Rees, born July 7, 1832, married, first, Susan Ann Keely, second, Mrs. Mary (McAdams) Smith; x. Robert James, born Jan. 29, 1834, died July 2, 1884, unmarried, Brevet Brigadier-General Civil war.

Rev. William Rees Goodwin, D. D., (Samuel, Thomas, Thomas), born July 7, 1832, in Brookville, was married, first, August 5, 1856, at Brookville, by Rev. S. T. Gillet, to Susan Ann Keely, born April 4, 1838, in Mt. Carmel, Ill., a daughter of Rev. John Wesley and Elizabeth (Fisher) Keely[5], John[4], John[3], Sebastian[2], Michael Keely[1], and died at Lincoln, Ill., Sept. 29, 1868.

Her father's mother was Ann Iddings, a descendant of Dr. Thomas Wynne, who came with Penn in 1680, in the Welcome, and was speaker of the First Assembly in 1682–'83. Dr. Goodwin was married, second, June 24, 1869, at St. Louis, Mo., by Rev. B. F. Crary, D. D., to Mrs. Mary (McAdams) Smith, who died in Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 26, 1898. By occupation he is a teacher and minister, in politics a Prohibitionist, and in religion a Methodist. He resides (1899) in Los Angeles, Cal. Dr. Goodwin was graduated from the Indiana Asbury University in 1856; was principal of the Goshen, Ky., Academy for one year; was president of the Brookville College; Professor of Belles Lettres in the Illinois Wesleyan University; twenty-five years a member of Illinois Conference; delegate to the General Conference; five years a member of the Rock River Conference and stationed at Park Ridge, one year; Austin, two years and at Chicago three years. He is one of the best known contributors to the periodicals of the Methodist Church. Children by first wife: i. John Samuel, born March 16, 1858, married Mary Elizabeth Forbes; ii. George Keely Holliday, born April 28, 1861, died April 13, 1862; iii. William Ransdall, born Aug. 19, 1863, married Mrs. Mary Eva (Putman) Hazlett; iv. Frank Morrow, born April 14, 1868, died May 6, 1869. Child by second wife: v. Eleanor, born May 25, 1870, married Dr. Charles H. Whitman.

John Samuel Goodwin (William Rees, Samuel, Thomas, Thomas), born March 16, 1858, in Edinburg, Ind., was married October 7, 1880, at Danville, Ill., by Rev. William Rees Goodwin, D. D., to Mary Elizabeth Forbes, born June 9, 1858, in Danville, a daughter of Thomas Richard and Anna Eliza (Robinson) Forbes[7], Thomas Chester[6], Benjamin[5], Elijah[4], Joseph[3], John[2], James Forbes[1], of Hartford, Conn. By occupation he is a lawyer, and in religion a Methodist. Mr. Goodwin was graduated from the Indiana Asbury University in 1877, the valedictorian of his class. He resided in Beloit, Kansas, from 1878 to 1888; was appointed judge in April, 1879; spent some time abroad in 1885–'86; resided in Danville, Ill., until January, 1891, and in Chicago thereafter. He is law partner of General John C. Black, ex-Commissioner of Pensions, and at present United States District Attorney. He is interested very extensively in the breeding of registered Aberdeen-Angus cattle. He is the compiler of the genealogy of the Goodwins of Virginia and of the Goodwins of Kittery, Maine. Child: i. Anna, born Dec. 15, 1886.
